

Antioch University Santa Barbara Welcomes International Students!

From the President:

Greetings,

International students play an increasingly vital part in the academic, cultural and social life of Antioch University Santa Barbara. It is my sincere belief that all others on campus and in the community at large are enriched by close interaction with people from diverse cultural, economic and social backgrounds. With that in mind, one of my top goals is to diversify our campus and to provide a welcoming environment for students from all parts of the world.

Dr. Michael Mulnix,
President

The commitment by Antioch to the international component of our academic mission is visible in many areas. We have begun to welcome students from a variety of nations and to emphasize internationalization throughout our curriculum. Our partnership with Santa Barbara City College in the SBCC-Antioch Bridge Program is one of our most powerful initiatives to make it easier and more desirable than ever for international students to find their college home at Antioch. Further opportunity to transition to graduate level studies is built in to the program for those who plan to continue.

I sincerely hope you'll contact me if you have any questions about Antioch University. It is my sincere belief that the respectful interaction of diverse people truly does work to advance the discovery of truth and mutual understanding. Please don't hesitate to email or call - we are here to help.

I look forward to meeting you soon!

From the Chair of Business and International Affairs:

Welcome to Master's "Co-op" Program at Antioch University Santa Barbara

International students at our Master's Degree in Organizational Management "Co-op" Program can choose one of the following four concentrations:

- 1) International Business
- 2) Sport Management
- 3) Health Care and Nursing Administration (new)
- 4) International Hotel and Tourism Management (new)

The knowledge that students have gained in the classroom can only be useful if it is applied in real world situations. "Co-op" employment (CPT) will help students develop the "hands-on" skills on the job, provide them with an opportunity to explore many career options. Our "Co-op" program is uniquely

Dr. Esther López-Mulnix,
Chair, Business and International Affairs

designed for international students to combine knowledge learned in the classroom setting with knowledge acquired from "hands-on" practical work experience with American companies and organizations, consequently, brings classroom instruction to a new level of understanding. Meanwhile, the "co-op" employment can help international students finance their education, all the net income can be kept by the students and used for their educational purposes in the US.

Our "co-op" program attracts students from around the world, China, India, Russia, Kenya, Brazil, ..., to name a few. I sincerely wish to meet you in Santa Barbara — the best city in America and one of the most beautiful cities in the world.
